SIXTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1941

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF FINE ARTS

To the President and the Governing Members of The Art Institute of Chicago:

THE year which has just passed has been notable for intense and progressive activity in all departments of the Art Institute. Many of the plans noted in my report for last season have been carried to completion; other studies and reinstallations have been undertaken, all with the purpose of making our vast and important collections of art of more stimulating use to the public.

Certain activities of the Institute during the last twelve months are known to everyone. I hardly need to recall the remarkable program of exhibitions—unrivaled by any other American museum—which during 1941 focused the attention of hundreds of thousands of visitors on the Art Institute. The superb series of American Rooms in Miniature by Mrs. James Ward Thorne has been an extraordinary success. Not only specialists in interior design, historians, and architects, but the public as a whole has seen and enjoyed these delightful reconstructions. The Art of Goya proved another timely exhibition as did The First Century of Printmaking, the latter made possible through the generous participation of Lessing J. Rosenwald. Once again, the Institute was able to secure for Chicago an unexpected showing of great foreign painting. Masterpieces of French Art, with its wealth of wonderful material lent by the Louvre and other galleries of France, proved almost as popular as the Italian Exhibition of the year before. In the spring the extensive exhibit of sculpture by Carl Milles—beautifully installed in McKinlock Court—brought to Chicago the work of one of the greatest of living sculptors. The Fifty-second Annual American Exhibition has proved unexpectedly successful. American art has never before been so full of exciting promise and the crowds which thronged the exhibit seemed to recognize a new spirit in the air. I should like to mention, from among the many interesting departmental exhibits, two which struck me as particularly important. The showing of Needlework of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries, arranged by The Antiquarian Society and the Department of Decorative Arts, was outstanding; so, too, the display of Art of the Han Dynasty on view in the galleries of the Department of Oriental Art. Both of these were loan exhibits built round material in our own collections. This type of exhibition, amplifying what the Institute owns with judicious borrowing from other museums and private collectors, seems to be of particular educational value.

All of us are aware that a number of significant additions have been made to the collections. You will find these detailed in the departmental reports that follow, and I am happy to report that each department has received, through gifts or purchase, material which visibly strengthens its artistic and historic sequences. Three particularly impressive gifts for 1941 stand out. I refer first to Mrs. James Ward Thorne's presentation of her first two groups of miniature rooms. Each group contains thirty units and it is the present plan of the Institute to circulate these rooms to a series of art museums throughout the country where their wealth of period detail and charm of presentation make them vital objects in art education. Second, I would name the Henry C. Schwab bequest of over three hundred examples of Chinese pottery and porcelain, chiefly of the late Ming and Ch'ing dynasties. The Schwab gift is of such excellent quality and size that it will not be necessary to add further material of this type to the Oriental collections. Third, I would point out the two cases of ancient glass, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson. The Robinson Collection has been specially installed as a loan in Gallery 5A with cases and lighting expertly designed to show its iridescent beauty. The presentation of these objects is most welcome for heretofore the Art Institute has lacked examples of early glass-making.

While exhibitions and acquisitions represent—to the public at least—the more spectacular side of museum activity, the last twelve months have seen many improvements carried on behind the scenes. One of the means by which a collection escapes becoming static is through frequent reinstallation of its material. The Department of Decorative Arts has concentrated on redoing a series of galleries at the west end of Gunsaulus Hall. You will find the Frank W. Gunsaulus Collection of Wedgwood, the Lewis Collection of Mexican Majolica, and the gallery of Continental Pottery and Porcelain all reinstalled and relabeled. The first gallery in the series, the Lucy Maud Buckingham Collection of Luster, will open early this season with a completely transformed installation, and many new features such as combination display and study cases, and specially designed lighting. In the same way the Department of Prints and Drawings has been redecorated and the old neutral backgrounds and architectural trim replaced by more modern color. Here it will be possible for the department to install special small exhibits with backgrounds harmoniously reinforcing the mood and period of the prints shown.

Both the Departments of Decorative Art and Prints and Drawings are engaged in an intense study of their material. Both these divisions of the museum grew rapidly and so many acquisitions were made that it was sometimes impossible for curators in the past to find time to study each object with thorough care. Recent scholarship, particularly in decorative art, has taken enormous strides so that much label information is already out-of-date. Such work is slow, painstaking, and often seems to the public of only comparative value. But without constant scholarship a museum does not know what in its collections is spurious or genuine or restored, nor can it make intelligent use out of objects, if only vague and inaccurate information is known about them.

The Art Institute is constantly studying ways in which it may be of special as well as of general use to the public. Perhaps no agency in the museum functions more directly in this way than the Ryerson and Burnham Libraries with their extensive reference collections of books and periodicals and their lending collections of slides and photographs. It is an extension of this reference function that makes the enlarging of the Print Study Room significant. The bulk of the Print Collection is necessarily stored away in boxes for only a very small percentage of prints can be on view at one time. But now that Gallery 14 has been set aside as a special room for study it is possible for any visitor to consult the remarkable resources of the collection and work first-hand from prints in the reserve.

In the same way the Textile Study Room of the Department of Decorative Arts will soon be put at the disposal of designers, students, artists, art historians, textile experts, and collectors, constituting a "library" of textile samples. Chicago is becoming more and more a center of design and the new Textile Study Room promises to serve a wide and enthusiastic public. Special study classes—such as those held by the Keeper of the Buckingham Prints and "clinics" like those initiated by the Curator of Oriental Art—promise to spread to other departments and will serve groups seeking particular information. It cannot be emphasized enough that only through such subdividing of the museum public is it possible for an art institute of our size and complexity to reach those who are most anxious for further museum study. The splendid work done by the Department of Education and the striking lecture and participation programs for Members and school children under the Membership Lecturer continue to bring life to our collections and exhibitions but special departmental services are of additional value to many Chicagoans.

In the field of public relations, the Department of Publicity has vitally increased our contacts. Many of you read with pleasure the special feature in Life magazine devoted to the Institute and throughout the year constant notices in the press have stressed the many educational opportunities offered by the Institute.

In former years it has been my custom to emphasize a number of pressing needs which I found facing this Institution. Some of these, thanks to generous friends, are no longer imperative; others have been automatically revised in terms of the present situation. For example, I do not stress as strongly, as in previous years, the need of additional staff appointments. Though here and there departmental assistants would be extremely useful, the museum Staff as a whole is sufficient to carry on the museum program. Likewise I have omitted from my list the necessity of new purchase funds. At the moment the art market is in an extremely unstable state and, while I am in favor of adding occasional works which appear at reasonable prices, I approve of diminishing, rather than increasing purchases for the duration of the war, save in the case of current American art. Our lack of a Publications Fund, I regret to admit, has not been met. On the other hand we may look forward to a curtailment of publishing during this period and it is likely that we shall find funds adequate to our needs.

1. UNRESTRICTED FUNDS. The Institute greatly needs contributions, large and small, of an unrestricted nature, which it may employ in fields or departments where regular budget allowances are inadequate. Especially during times of uncertainty it is often necessary to apply a few hundred or a few thousand dollars here and there to meet special vital requests. For the past two years one generous donor has presented the Director of Fine Arts with a small fluid fund, out of which much has been accomplished. Further yearly gifts of this sort would allow the Institute to function more efficiently in a rapidly changing world.

2. MUSEUM EDUCATION. Much more could be done here, particularly in free service to the public. Though the desire is for permanent endowment, any gift made to the Educational Division of the Institute will be put to excellent use. We have plans which involve a wide use of motion pictures and television as well as an increase in the number of lectures, demonstrations, and concerts. But so far we lack the necessary means. During the war it is likely that the public will turn more and more to cultural institutions and contributions made to this cause will not only advance the understanding and enjoyment of art but help to build public morale.

3. ENDOWED PROFESSORSHIPS. The School of the Art Institute, like all educational agencies, is facing difficult days. This means that endowments of professorships are greatly needed so that the School may hold its distinguished faculty and at the same time attract other great teachers to Chicago. The Director of Fine Arts and the Dean of the School will be happy to point out details of such endowments to any donor who recognizes the growing importance of such a plan.

4. ENDOWED GALLERIES. The Trustees of the Art Institute have arranged a scale of endowments for galleries and memorial rooms, whereby a donor wishing to provide for a memorial may, upon payment of a sustaining fund, receive a gallery named as he desires. A number of such endowed galleries have already been assigned. The President and the Director of Fine Arts will be pleased to discuss other areas in the Institute available as memorials.

The end of 1941 saw the outbreak of the war. For the past year plans have been under way for the protection and preservation of the collections in case of danger. Such plans are constantly being detailed and amplified. On the other hand the Art Institute feels that the present crisis offers a remarkable opportunity for public service. In this respect we can do no better than echo the vigorous statement passed at an emergency meeting of the Association of Art Museum Directors held at the Metropolitan Museum of Art on December 20 and 21:

"If, in time of peace, our museums and art galleries are important to the community, in time of war they are doubly valuable. For then, when the petty and the trivial fall away and we are face to face with final and lasting values, we as Americans must summon to our defense all our intellectual and spiritual resources. We must guard jealously all we have inherited from a long past, all we are capable of creating in a trying present, and all we are determined to preserve in an unseeable future.

"Never before has museum attendance been so great in Canada, or in England wherever museums can still function. Never has the public responded so eagerly to the creative life of today and to the meaning of the art of the past; never have the museums of those countries been so determined to serve.

"Therefore be it resolved:

"That American museums are prepared to do their utmost in the service of the people of this country during the present conflict.

"That they will continue to keep open their doors to all who seek refreshment of spirit.

"That they will, with the sustained financial help of their communities, broaden the scope and variety of their work.

"That they will be sources of inspiration illuminating the past and vivifying the present; that they will fortify the spirit on which victory depends."

REPORTS OF THE DEPARTMENTS FOR 1941

PAINTING AND SCULPTURE

DURING the past year this department has benefited from notable acquisitions to the extent of thirteen paintings, eleven water colors, and one piece of sculpture. Six paintings came into the collection through gift, while the other seven were purchases. All but one of the water colors and the sculpture were purchased or acquired through purchase prizes.

Of outstanding importance is the Christ in the Storm, a distinguished and dynamic work of the Rembrandt School given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester. This painting, though not yet attributed to a definite master, is one of the most notable examples of the Rembrandt circle to enter an American museum. Also the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Worcester is a charming Dutch painting, Church Interior by Emanuel De Witte (1607-1692).

An imposing full-length portrait of Queen Margareta, wife of Philip III of Spain, is the gift of Mrs. Sidney Gorham, Jr., Mrs. Walter Kohler, Jr., Mrs. James Conger, and Eugene McVoy, Jr., in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McVoy. The artist is Juan Pantoja de la Cruz (1551-1609), the gifted pupil of Coello who later became court painter.

A distinguished Portrait of a Lady by Antonio Moro (1519-1577) marks one of the three most outstanding purchases of the year. This superb example of Moro's work was acquired from the E. E. Ayer Fund for the Charles L. Hutchinson Memorial. Of equal importance in the field of nineteenth-century French painting is the Woman with Pink Bow, an early portrait of striking intensity by Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec purchased through the Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Larned Coburn Fund. A third purchase of significance is the Landscape with Sacrificial Procession by Claude Lorrain (1600-1682), purchased from the Robert Alexander Waller Fund.

A charming eighteenth-century Italian sketch for a lunette, attributed to Corrado Giaquinto (1699-1765), is the gift of Mrs. Everett L. Millard and Mrs. Elizabeth Boynton Harmon in memory of their mother, Mrs. Charles T. Boynton. A romantic mid-nineteenth-century American landscape, The Falls of the San Joaquin by Alburtis D. O. Browere (1814-1887) is a gift of the same donors who are descendants of the artist.

The recently formed Society for Contemporary American Art presented Francis Chapin's Little River, selected from their First Annual Exhibition. It is one of the finest works by this well-known Chicago painter.

An important canvas, The Leader, Zapata, by the contemporary Mexican artist, José Clemente Orozco, was acquired for the Joseph Winterbotham Collection.

Three paintings presented by the Friends of American Art include a charming impressionist landscape, Val d'Arconville, by Theodore Robinson (1852-1896), The Butcher Cart by George Luks (1867-1933), one of the New York realists of the early part of this century, and Jean Bellows, a striking and sympathetic portrait by Eugene Speicher.

An especially interesting group of water colors has been added to the collection during the past year. A freely handled and colorful work in pure water color, Meadow Gate by David Jones, is a gift of the Council of the Contemporary Art Society through John Rothenstein, Director of the Tate Gallery in London. An imaginative work by Marc Chagall, the Russian-born artist who was accorded an exhibition in this year's International Water Color Exhibition, and the forcefully conceived Port of Marseilles by the Belgian, Frans Masereel, were purchased for the Olivia Shaler Swan Memorial. The other seven water colors are all by American artists. George Bellows' Cliff Dwellers is a dramatically realistic drawing of a New York slum scene heightened with color, in contrast to which is the quieter mood of John Sloan's Bachelor Girl, which is also concerned with New York life of the far from privileged.

In the most nearly contemporary field is George Grosz' Central Park at Night, a composition in deep rich tones characteristic of the artist's work shortly after his coming to this country. Remarkable for its meticulous style and carefully rendered textures is Ivan Le Lorraine Albright's Ah, God—Herrings, Buoys, The Glittering Sea. Winding River by Paul S. Sample is a facile rendering of a New England winter scene. These last five were likewise acquired for the Olivia Shaler Swan Memorial. Three prize pictures from the Twentieth International Water Color Exhibition complete the list. Charles Burchfield's House of Mystery, awarded the Watson F. Blair Prize of Six Hundred Dollars, is a powerful composition of intense mood, and is a significant addition to the collection. Roy Mason was awarded the Watson F. Blair Purchase Prize of Four Hundred Dollars for a humorous composition, Goin' All t' Hell, and Tom Dietrich received the William H. Tuthill Purchase Prize of One Hundred Dollars for a clear-cut river scene, The Valley.

Oronzio Maldarelli's Barbara, which received the Logan Prize in the Fifty-second Annual Exhibition of American Paintings and Sculpture, is a sensitively modeled head in limestone.

As the leading winter exhibition the department presented The Art of Goya from January 30 to March 2. This important survey was held in conjunction with the Print Department and included the finest prints, drawings, and paintings available.

Concurrent with this was a group of oils and gouaches by Peppino Mangravite, whose fresh and lively work places him among the most interesting of contemporary American artists.

The Annual Exhibition by Artists of Chicago and Vicinity was held from March 11 to April 1.

From April 10 to May 20 the Art Institute had once more the rare opportunity of exhibiting great works from European museums. Masterpieces of French Art Lent by the Museums and Collectors of France afforded a rare occasion to see a most comprehensive collection of French painting from the late eighteenth century to the present, for the exhibition, together with the Art Institute's own remarkable French sequence, formed an unparalleled assemblage.

In conjunction with The University of Chicago's Fiftieth Anniversary, the Art Institute exhibited, from May 29 to September 7, Portraits of Men and Women Who Helped to Make Chicago Great, 1891-1941.

Because of the French exhibition's being held in the spring the Twentieth International Exhibition of Water Colors opened later than usual, running from July 17 to October 5 in place of the regular group of summer exhibitions. This change in date proved to be an auspicious one, as indicated by its popularity and the large catalogue sales. A section of the exhibition was invited to the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

On October 30 the Fifty-second Annual Exhibition of American Paintings and Sculpture opened to remain on view until January 4, 1942. This year as an experiment the exhibition was entirely invited, the Jury acting solely to award prizes.

During the year redecoration of some of the galleries has greatly enhanced the groups of paintings exhibited there. This is especially true of Gallery 32, containing the Monets and Degas, and Gallery 49, in which the Winslow Homer water colors are now seen to far better advantage.

A year loan of twenty French paintings of the nineteenth century has been placed in Gallery 39. This includes Manets, Degas, Renoirs, and Cézannes of the finest quality, and acts as an interesting supplement to our own collection. By request the lender remains anonymous.

A new edition of the Brief Guide to the Collections was published in the spring. This helpful booklet, brought completely up to date, was compiled and edited by this department.

During the first half of the year Mrs. Lois Bassett Browne and Irving S. Tarrant continued their valuable work on the catalogue of paintings now in preparation. This work was done for credit at The University of Chicago.

ORIENTAL ART

IN MANY ways 1941 has been a memorable year for the Department of Oriental Art. The principal event was a princely bequest from Henry C. Schwab of 341 examples of Chinese pottery and porcelain which we were permitted to select from his collection. The majority of the collection is of the late Ming and Ch'ing dynasties, and of such quality that for a long time little in that field will need to be added. The extent and quality of this bequest are indeed remarkable.

Next we are gratified to report the acquisition of two fine Chinese paintings, both scrolls. One, by T'ang Yin, has been added to the Buckingham Collection, and the other, of undetermined authorship, was purchased from the Nickerson Fund. In addition, an album of fan paintings on gold ground, eleven of the Ming and one of the Ch'ing dynasty, with four calligraphic fans, has just been acquired to be added to the Nickerson Collection. This is a step toward remedying a conspicuous weakness in the department. We have few paintings and have experienced great difficulty in building up the painting collection both on account of the scarcity of desirable examples and the difficulty in obtaining funds when such examples appear. May the acquisition of these two paintings augur well for the future!

Homer E. Sargent presented us with a collection of twenty-four pieces of Chinese pewter—a field little represented. With these he gave eleven rhinoceros horn cups. Miss Kate Sturges gave two Chinese gilt bronze belt ornaments, and Mrs. Silas Strawn an unusual Chinese rug woven for the palace in the late eighteenth or early nineteenth centuries. It is of a type rare outside China, and seems to have been made only for palace use. Russell Tyson continues his uninterrupted benefactions with the gift of a unique Ying Ch'ing porcelain incense burner of the Sung dynasty. Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, long a friend of the department, has added two Japanese screens to her earlier gifts.

In the Near Eastern field we have received seven pieces of Persian pottery from Mrs. Andrew Dole and a handsome painting of the Riza Abbasi School from the Orientals. Mrs. Robert Sonnenschein has given a manuscript page.

By exchange and purchase several Japanese prints and a painting by Hiroshige have been acquired. But not only in acquisitions have we been fortunate. The completion of Gallery H-9 has permitted special exhibitions of which the third is now in progress. The gallery has begun already to serve as a focal point among the permanent and loan collections.

We are grateful for the continued generosity of those friends who have lent many fine pieces from their own collections either on long time loans or for specific periods. It is only natural to hope that some of these (at least the best) may become permanently domiciled in the Art Institute.

The department's severest handicap, that of inadequate storage and study space, has been thrown into sharp relief by the acquisition of the Schwab bequests. I know of no other Oriental Department containing anything approaching the quality of our collections that is so badly off as we in this respect. It places a retarding hand upon every single departmental activity. In addition the galleries are becoming outgrown. We do not wish to crowd the objects and therefore may be forced to retire temporarily many things the public would be glad to see.

Miss Gunsaulus' seminars in Japanese prints continue to be eagerly attended. Gallery talks by various members of the department always draw full crowds. Evidently the public is interested in Oriental art.

CHARLES FABENS KELLEY
Curator of Oriental Art

PRINTS AND DRAWINGS

THE season of 1941 started with an important exhibition entitled The First Century of Printmaking, in which a selection of the finest fifteenth-century prints in the country was shown. Collectors, when approached for a loan of their material, turned out to be most generous and cooperative. Our particular gratitude goes to Lessing J. Rosenwald who lent to this exhibition a priceless group of fifteenth-century woodcuts and a similar group of engravings of the utmost importance and rarity. Through his initiative and enthusiasm as well as material contribution the publication of an elaborate catalogue was made possible. Miss Elizabeth Mongan collaborated with the Curator not only in assembling the exhibition but also in the catalogue. We should like to thank her again for all the work and devotion which she put into this difficult enterprise. We are also particularly grateful to Thomas E. Donnelley for a very important contribution toward the cost of this catalogue, which was well received throughout America and those countries abroad which were able to obtain copies. The exhibition was warmly received and had an excellent attendance (83,844).

The department collaborated in assembling the print and drawing section of the Goya exhibition, and here again we are most indebted to the private collectors who unhesitatingly let us have their finest material.

Hugh Edwards of this department assembled a most interesting and unusual exhibition of engravings by Jean Duvet, Étienne Delaune, and Jean Gourmont, three great French engravers, who, because of the great rarity of their prints, are little known in this country. The important group of Duvet's engravings was lent by a private collector, without whose generous contribution the exhibition would not have been possible.

A number of other exhibitions were held in the department's galleries.

The interest in the exhibition entitled Prints in the Making was greatly enhanced by important loans from the collection of Joel Spitz.

To all collectors and patrons who have collaborated with us so generously, our warmest gratitude is again expressed in this connection.

Most of the staff's time, apart from exhibitions, was devoted to reorganization of the department. First came the turning over to this department of the gallery formerly housing the Egyptian collection for use as a workshop and print storage. After the untimely death of State Administrator Howard S. Drew, who had shown keen personal interest in helping the Institute, the WPA withdrew its workmen and the project of rematting the prints had to be reluctantly postponed indefinitely.

To our regret Miss Marie Swift discontinued her volunteer work in the Print Department in March to join the American Red Cross Ambulance Service. We owe her a great debt of gratitude for her excellent help in taking over much necessary routine work. She also accomplished restoration and photographic work which had to be discontinued when she left the Institute. Miss Swift very generously donated an excellent photographic camera for record work in the department.

A second step in reorganization was achieved by turning one gallery into a Print Study Room. Although this is more or less a temporary solution, it enables us to provide sufficient chairs and tables for students and scholars and particularly excellent light for the study of the collections. We have had many favorable comments concerning this innovation from Print Room visitors. The former Print Room has become a stack room and offices. It is now possible to study our collections without the constant disturbance of telephones and typewriters.

Exhibition galleries were newly decorated and generally modernized as much as possible. So, little by little, the great task of bringing the "Cabinet" up to date is well on its way toward the still distant goal and the Curator will be glad to talk to any patron who would help us to reach it.

For the public, one of the greatest necessities is the compilation of a catalogue of the entire collection. An increased staff would be indispensable to this end. Mrs. James Ward Thorne has, as on many previous occasions, shown real comprehension of our difficulties and keen interest in finding a solution. Her unremitting enthusiasm and generosity made possible the cataloguing of the collection of early nineteenth century English colorplate books given by her in 1940. A contribution from Mrs. Thorne permitted us to obtain the services of Mrs. Jane Karlin, who has just completed an authors' and artists' file of the Thorne collection, and is now engaged in the compilation of a subject catalogue.

Our warmest thanks go to Miss Nellie Martin for her continuous work in this department. Miss Martin came to us through the Library Project of the WPA and her assistance has been invaluable. We also wish to express our gratitude to Mrs. Bergen Evans, who has volunteered her services three days a week. Mrs. Evans has been in charge of our Print Department workshop and her help has been of inestimable value to the department in carrying out our re-matting and exhibition program. On October 6, 1941, Miss Valborg Richter joined the staff.

Visitors to the Print Study Room numbered 775, and to the Print Galleries 148,770.

A number of important gifts were made to the collection. Alfred E. Hamill generously donated three portfolios of drawings by Thomas Stothard for the Atlas Pocket Books for 1796, 1797, and 1801. Walter S. Brewster made a most important contribution to our very fine and extensive collection of prints by Lautrec, a rare proof set of seven drypoints. Mrs. Robert Sonnenschein's gift of a number of early medical portraits contains many interesting items. Mrs. Olga Woolf's gift of a number of Dürers, Rembrandts, and nineteenth-century prints has filled some notable gaps. Charles H. Worcester has continued to add a number of items to our collection of modern American prints and Robert Allerton has donated a very fine early impression of a lithograph by Lehmbruck. Frank Hubachek has answered our appeal a number of times through contributing important modern prints, particularly American, to our collection and has also generously assisted us in other ways at various times. Although naturally handicapped by lack of funds with which to make use of the opportunities presented, we have nevertheless been fortunate enough to acquire a few outstanding prints and drawings, particularly for the Clarence Buckingham Collection.

The exhibition of fifteenth-century prints clearly revealed the serious gaps in our collection. We have very few examples of fifteenth-century prints and even fewer really good impressions. We have but one single example of an early single-sheet woodcut. Their excessive scarcity will make it increasingly difficult to add to this number. The same situation exists in the collection of drawings which urgently needs a few examples of outstanding quality. We sincerely hope that the Institute's patrons will help us fill such gaps before it is too late.

CARL O. SCHNIEWIND
Curator of Prints and Drawings

DECORATIVE ARTS

THE year has been an unusually active one in every section of the department's work. Thanks to the continued generosity of its friends, the department has acquired a number of very desirable objects. Several exhibitions of considerable importance have been held. A number of galleries have been redecorated, reinstalled, and relabeled, and a considerable amount of work has been done in many fields in the expertizing of the collections themselves.

By far the most important event of the year was the presentation by Mrs. James Ward Thorne of the first two groups of her notable miniature rooms. Each of these groups contains thirty units. The first represents European, American, and Oriental interior styles and is now being shown in museums on the West Coast. The second, consisting entirely of European interiors, was first shown at the Art Institute, and is now bringing record attendance to museums in the East. It is proposed for the present to continue the circulation of these series under arrangements which make this activity both self-supporting and modestly contributory to parallel activities in the department. Though this generous gift has added greatly to the administrative responsibilities of the curator, it has placed an educational instrument in the department's charge which extends its influence over the entire country to an unprecedented degree.

The third, or American, group of Mrs. Thorne's rooms which has been on exhibition in Gallery A12 throughout the year, will be withdrawn early in February for a showing in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, the first stop on a country wide circuit. This exhibition alone has drawn a record number of visitors to the department during the year.

Notable among the gifts are some 105 items presented by or through the Antiquarian Society. These include an Italian chest of the late fifteenth century, eight pieces of German eighteenth-century porcelain, a rare Urbino faience flask of the sixteenth century, and five pieces of eighteenth-century furniture from the Palazzo Dona dalle Rose, Venice; these all purchased and presented by the Society. In addition, Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson presented seven pieces of French and Italian furniture of the eighteenth century through the Society in memory of her mother, Mrs. Leverett Thompson. Two fine pieces of American furniture were also presented directly by Mrs. Magnuson in memory of her two grandfathers, Abram Poole and General John Leverett Thompson. Also through the Society came some pieces of Spanish and Italian furniture from Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, a silver creamer by the well known Delaware maker, Bancroft Woodcock, from Mrs. Stanley Keith, and several other items of lesser importance.

Late in the year Mrs. Potter Palmer, through the Antiquarian Society, presented a large and important group of Verre de Nevers, tiny figurines in polychrome glass, dating mainly from the eighteenth century. Few similar collections of this rare material are known.

Several welcome additions were made to the textile collections. A seventeenth-century Brussels tapestry of silk and wool, illustrating an incident in the romance of Meleager and Atalanta, was presented by Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild. This work, after a cartoon by Charles Lebrun, shows the best qualities of the grand style of the period. Another presentation of great interest demonstrating the finest attainment of the lace maker at the turn of the century is a needle and bobbin lace ball gown and fan made for the Princess Cantacuzene and presented by her in memory of the late Mrs. Potter Palmer. A rare Utrecht velvet carpet was given by Mrs. Chauncey McCormick to the Charles Deering Collection. It is regrettable that lack of space prevents individual mention of other gifts indicated in the appended list.

A polychromed papier-mâché sculpture of Tobias and the Angel, probably made in southern Italy in the mid-eighteenth century, and three pieces of contemporary stoneware by Franz and Marguerite Wildenhain were the only acquisitions by purchase in 1941. They were acquired through the Decorative Arts Special Fund.

During the year, 226 objects were received by gift, four acquired by purchase. Eleven objects were received on indefinite loan.

The development of the Textile Study Room was furthered by a gift of equipment, the first installment on a generous pledge of assistance by the Needlework and Textile Guild.

A large number of short time loans are accounted for by the contents of five special exhibitions held during the year. Of these the most important was probably that of the sculpture of Carl Milles which filled McKinlock Court and Galleries G15 and H3 from June 5 to November 2. The department is grateful for the financial help of many of its friends, particularly Robert Allerton and Samuel A. Marx, in making this exhibition possible and also for the generous assistance of the many lenders of material.

A notable exhibition of needlework of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries was organized under the auspices of the Antiquarian Society and shown from May 23 to August 24. The success of this exhibition was largely due to the generosity of other museums and of private collectors who contributed material of exceptional quality, and to the technical help given by Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland of the Antiquarian Society in its preparation. This event was followed by two exhibitions arranged from the department's permanent collections, velvets of the fifteenth to the seventeenth centuries, and brocades of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Two exhibitions of contemporary ceramics have been held, one the work of the well known European craftsmen, Franz and Marguerite Wildenhain, principally composed of stoneware of high technical accomplishment, was shown in Galleries G11 and G15 from March 1 to May 18. The second, of pottery recently made by Warren A. Gilbertson, formerly a student of the School of the Art Institute, during the latter part of a two-year apprenticeship in Japan, showed the use of traditional methods of the Orient adapted to occidental needs. Almost a third of the first exhibition was purchased by the public and the second exhibition was completely sold out two weeks following its opening on November 15 in Gallery G15.

During the year considerable attention has been given to the galleries at the west end of Gunsaulus Hall. The continental pottery and porcelain, the Frank W. Gunsaulus Collection of Wedgwood, and the Herbert Pickering Lewis Collection of Mexican Majolica have been reinstalled and relabeled. The Lucy Maud Buckingham Collection of Luster has been completely reinstalled according to a new system of combined public and study storage exhibition which should much increase the visitors' pleasure in this remarkable group of widely popular material. Much headway has also been made in a complete restudy of all the department's ceramic collections, the results of which should be evident to the public in the near future. By and large the ceramic, glass, and metalwork collections have suffered from an overcrowding of the cases. Such displays defeat their purpose by making it difficult to see individual objects. The benefit of the thinning out of the cases is already apparent. This process presupposes, however, the creation of study series where surplus material may be readily available to the interested public. It is hoped that such provision may be made in the near future.

In addition to the activities mentioned above, a very considerable amount of the department's time is taken up in advising visitors and examining and expertizing objects for members of the Institute and the general public. Though Wednesday mornings are regularly set aside for this work, it is impossible to limit this service entirely to this time and many inquiries are received by mail. Though the department is always glad to respond to the many requests made of it during the year for various special services, these all use up a considerable amount of time which must be taken into consideration when surveying the department's accomplishments.

During the year the department published two catalogues, one of the needlework exhibition and the other of the Milles exhibition.

In connection with the last months of the exhibition of the Thorne American Rooms in Miniature and through Mrs. Thorne's additional generosity, a notable series of four lectures on the topic, Design for Living: The American Tradition, was given by leading authorities in the field in Fullerton Hall on successive Thursdays beginning October 16. Capacity attendance indicated the intense public interest in this series and it is expected to make the lectures accessible to a wider public by publication in book form in the near future.

Members of the departmental staff are deserving of every commendation for the cheerful loyalty with which they have responded to the many demands made upon them during the year in meeting an unusually heavy program. We are glad to take advantage of this opportunity to thank the officers and administration of the Institute for its sympathetic support of the department's efforts during the year.

GALLERY OF ART INTERPRETATION

THE Gallery of Art Interpretation continued this year the preparation and installation of educational exhibits. The first, Interpreting Goya—A Study of His Art and Its Influence, was arranged to supplement the comprehensive exhibition, The Art of Goya, shown in the Temporary Galleries. Dividing Goya's output into several categories under headings such as Portrait Painter, Creator of Fantasy and Satire, Patriot, Religious Painter, Decorator, we arranged material to show in these various fields his predecessors, his relationship with his contemporaries, and his influence on later art. This exhibition was sent to the University Gallery at the University of Minnesota for showing during the summer.

The second exhibition was a group of paintings, drawings, and sculptures by children, carefully selected from various sources by John Wallace Purcell, an instructor in the Saturday classes of the School of the Art Institute. As the title, Little Masterpieces by Children, suggests, each entry was chosen for its particular merit and the exhibition was an unusually satisfying one.

The third exhibition, The Plan of a Painting, was an interpretative one, dealing with Edward Hopper's painting, Manhattan Bridge Loop. Originally arranged by the Addison Gallery of American Art, the exhibit is now circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York. With diagrams, charts, three-dimensional constructions, and forceful labels a full analysis of the painting was presented.

The fourth exhibition, Pottery—Forms and Methods of Decoration, was divided into sections in which in turn were shown the origin and importance of form in this art, the different wares, the various kinds of glazes, and the many ways of decorating. Methods of pottery making were shown in photographs and throughout the exhibition labels called attention to pottery of similar types to be found in the Art Institute galleries. Examples shown were for the most part borrowed from the Oriental and Decorative Arts Departments. The Pottery Department of the Art Institute School lent interesting analytical material.

The Curator prepared other exhibits as follows: Portraits of Men and Women Who Helped to Make Chicago Great, 1891-1941, an exhibition arranged in recognition of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the University of Chicago, and shown in Gallery 25 from May 29 to September 7; two exhibitions in the Recent Accessions Gallery; six paintings and related material for the Masterpiece of the Month. She also wrote one article for the Bulletin of the Art Institute and gave one lecture in Fullerton Hall on the French Exhibition and seven gallery lectures.

Outside activities consisted of twenty-two lectures in the Fine Arts and Humanities Courses of the Chicago Junior Colleges, one lecture out of the city, and one at the Chicago meeting of the Western Arts Association.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

AS a liaison department between the public and the collections, the Department of Education functions in a variety of directions. The great Italian Exhibition in 1940 increased the attendance in the Department to such an extent that we thought it impossible to equal it. But in 1941 the attendance increased even over that of 1940. In 1941, 39,550 adults and children made use of the educational services and, if we add to that the attendance of the special high school project, the number reaches 66,257, a surprising figure when compared with the limited budget and the small staff of the Department.

The big exhibitions of the last two years have brought the Art Institute to the attention of groups in Chicago and vicinity who hitherto had apparently been indifferent to it. Schools and colleges in neighboring states and counties have used the Educational Department as never before, as the appended list will indicate. Especially have more high schools visited the museum.

One aspect of the Department's duties perhaps little known to members is the supplying of guide service to very large groups. To provide guide service for five hundred persons at one time is an order that comes several times during the year, and we are able to fill it. The 4-H groups visit us every year—five hundred girls and five hundred boys—and their day at the Art Institute is one of the star events of their week in Chicago. Other large groups are the Chicago Teachers College, Illinois State Medical Society, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Illinois Bankers Association, and the Greater Chicago Hotel Association.

For the sixth season the Florence Dibell Bartlett Series of Adventures in the Arts attracted large audiences for thirty evenings in Fullerton Hall. An increase of men among those attending and evidence of a sincere desire to learn more about art rather than merely enjoy an evening's entertainment, are gratifying to note. These lectures are obviously supplying a need in the life of Chicago and our appreciation of Miss Bartlett's generosity in making them possible is immeasurable.

The continuance of the free Sunday afternoon gallery lectures is another important activity. During the past year a half-hour concert with recordings in the gallery before the lecture greatly pleased the listeners. Since the Bartlett and the Sunday Lectures are the only free activities for adults in the Department we are especially grateful to those donors who enable us to offer them.

Gifts to the Department include $1000 from Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett, $1000 from Maymar Corporation, $413 from the Chicago Public School Art Society, and $200 from Mrs. William A. Nitze. Mrs. Nitze's gift has been a great help in making a small collection of records for the Sunday and Thursday half-hour concerts, and in the Visual Arts and Music course offered as one of the regular activities of the Department.

The Children's Gallery Book, written by Mrs. Marie Zoé Greene, has met with excellent response and orders for it have come from all over the United States.

The second year of the special High School Project has been continued by Laurance J. Longley and Miss Florence Arquin under a grant from the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. Six new exhibits have been added to those already circulating in the eleven high schools participating in the project. In addition to the lectures given in the schools and the correlative lectures to groups of students visiting the museum, observations and tests are being compiled that will be important in making the final report. A conference with the other four museums carrying on similar projects was held here in October to discuss the form of the final report as well as to permit the other museums to see the methods and procedure of our project.

Besides the activities thus far described, the Department has offered its regular series of lectures, both day and evening, gallery tours for ninety-two clubs and organizations, and for many school groups of all academic levels, from first grade through college. Miss Parker has given lectures to clubs and art associations in Chicago and suburbs as well as in other cities, thus extending the Department's activities and bringing the museum's collections to a wider range of people.

Ramsey Wieland, Assistant, has been granted a year's fellowship at Yale University. During his absence, Addis Osborne is acting in his place. Mrs. Mia Stanton Munger continued her generous volunteer help and did most effective work with both children and adults.

No progress of any real importance can be made with present facilities, financial and physical equipment. It is earnestly hoped that someone with vision will see the value of the work we are carrying on under severe handicaps and enable us to bring it nearer to the point of usefulness which our great museum owes to its community.

MEMBERSHIP AND EXTENSION
LECTURER'S DEPARTMENT

MORE than 110,000 persons have attended the lectures, programs, and classes provided by this department during 1941.

A close relationship has been maintained between the Fullerton Hall lectures and the magnificent array of exhibitions displayed in the galleries throughout the year. Especially, the subjects of the History and Enjoyment of Art lectures on Friday afternoons have correlated with the current exhibits, and Mrs. Thorne's American Rooms in Miniature have been used as a source of reference for the Clinic of Good Taste programs on Monday afternoons and evenings.

The Art-through-Travel lectures, with motion pictures and music, have filled Fullerton Hall to capacity Friday evenings and Sunday afternoons. The general subject for the year has been a survey of the cultural accomplishments of the Western Hemisphere. Canada, the Latin American countries, and the Islands, as well as the major geographical sections of the United States have been studied with the aid of the new kodachrome photography.

Another series of the New York Museum of Modern Art's History of the Motion Picture was presented, and a number of lectures and demonstrations of the techniques and processes of the arts have been given by the staff and guest craftsmen.

The sketch class for novices on Monday evenings has been larger than at any time in the fourteen years of the class. Many members of the Friday morning sketch class are no longer novices; they draw brilliantly, and a number have been exhibitors during the year at the Art Institute and elsewhere in Chicago.

A large increase in attendance at the Saturday afternoon class for Children of Members is noted for the year.

Scholarship tickets for the Saturday and Monday classes under the James Nelson Raymond Lecture Fund for Children of Members and of Public Schools have been awarded to every Chicago public school, and a thousand talented children a week have come to Fullerton Hall for instruction. Thirteen thousand home-work drawings, paintings, and designs by these pupils have been marked and criticized. Their courageous originality and invention point to the rapidly rising school of American Art! Special accent has been laid upon thoughtful interpretation and good craftsmanship this year.

The outstanding students of the year were Don Yacoe of Hirsch High School and William Neebe of Senn High School, who divided the Anna Louise Raymond Scholarship for one year in the School of the Art Institute. Alonzo Chancellor of Englewood High School was awarded a scholarship in the summer school.

SCHOOL

THE School shared the experience of other art schools during the year 1941 and records a considerable reduction in enrollment caused by the absorption of students into industrial and military organizations. Fortunately it has been possible so far to maintain the variety and scope of instruction for which the School is famous; but this has been done at the expense of maintenance and administrative items in the budget and the result will eventually be a reduction in operating efficiency unless some relief is forthcoming. Our present position permits no experimentation with new classes or methods of instruction; whatever curriculum changes are made must be within the framework of our present faculty commitments and our constant concern is that instruction will be reduced because of further enrollment shrinkage.

In the face of this somewhat discouraging situation, it is particularly pleasant to cite many instances of generosity on the part of our friends. Through the efforts of Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed a fund was raised which made possible the visit of M. Jacques Maroger, formerly in charge of the laboratories of the Louvre, who conducted a special class in the use of painting techniques which he has perfected as the result of his researches. For a second year an anonymous gift has made possible the appointment of Peppino Mangravite as visiting professor in Mural Painting. With the assistance of Merlin Pollock, Mr. Mangravite has made the mural painting class a vital part of the School. The bequest of $100,000 from the estate of Mary Morley Sellers to found the Frank Harrold Sellers Professorship was received by the Art Institute in October, and brief ceremonies acknowledging the gift were held in Fullerton Hall on November 19. Miss Margaret Artingstall was appointed Sellers Professor of Decorative Arts for the current school year, the first appointment to be made under the terms of the bequest.

Faculty changes in 1941 include the appointment of Miss Marya Lilien in Interior Design (Evening School), Leonard Redman in Cartoon Drawing (Evening School), George Mendenhall in Architecture and Industrial Design, and Douglas Wilson in Elementary Design. Other appointments are noted in an appended list. A special class in technical methods was held during the Winter Term under the direction of Ramon Shiva.

Two-year Certificate courses in a restricted number of subjects were announced in the Summer of 1941 and the first certificate students were enrolled in the Fall term. Degree courses in all departments reflected a sustained interest in this type of educational opportunity, with a total of nine Masters' and sixty-five Bachelors' degrees awarded in June.

By offering greater credit-earning opportunities in the Summer School, the income for that period was maintained in spite of somewhat reduced attendance. The Junior Department of the Summer School was reorganized under the direction of Miss Laura Bannon, and its classes made parallel to those of the Saturday School.

The Annual Exhibition of student work from all departments of the School attracted much favorable comment and the total sales from the exhibition exceeded those of any previous year. Paul Trebilcock awarded two prizes totaling $150.00 in connection with the Exhibition. Numerous other exhibitions of student work were circulated, notably a selection of textiles produced by students under Miss Artingstall's direction which were shown at the Paul Theobald gallery and at the College Club, and a selection of work from the general student exhibition shown by Marshall Field and Company.

Miss Marguerita Steffenson, for ten years Assistant Dean in the School, left the School office at the beginning of the Fall term to resume her studies at the University of Chicago. The School wishes to recognize Miss Stefenson's efficient and understanding services and records her resignation with great regret. No appointment has to date been made to her position on the staff.

Miss Mary C. Scovel, formerly head of the Art Education division of the School, died in California in October. Miss Scovel was instrumental in formulating the School's degree plan, and was recognized as an outstanding authority on art education for children. She had retired from her position in the School in 1932.

Mrs. Harriet B. Irwin, for many years Recorder in the School, died April 2, 1941, after a long period of retirement from her duties. She will be remembered by many generations of students for her devoted services to the School.

Traveling fellowship awards made during the past two years are proving a useful means of promoting international cultural interests in Central and South America. Traveling Fellows report enthusiastically on the richness and variety of material available to them, and voice no regret at the geographical restrictions imposed by the conflagration in Europe and Asia.

With the exception of new lighting fixtures in two classrooms and the renovation of the School Lobby exhibition area, no alterations or improvements in the School plant have been made during the current year. The School is badly in need of classroom space for its lectures, as well as replacement of obsolete and inadequate equipment. Provision for further faculty endowments and an adequate retirement plan are perennial needs which must be recognized if we are to prevent in the future the accumulation of grave problems in faculty personnel management.

THE GOODMAN THEATRE

IN 1939-40 the Goodman Theatre reported a growth in attendance of the Members' Series from 52,621 to 66,874. It is a source of gratification to be able to report that the Season of 1940-41 has shown an increase of attendance to 83,827. The increase indicates an undeniable growth of interest on the part of the Members of the Art Institute in the productions which are made by the students under the supervision of the Staff. The plays produced during the year were: This Fine Pretty World by Percy MacKaye, Time and the Conways by J. B. Priestley, Ice-Bound by Owen Davis, Night Must Fall by Emlyn Williams, Admirable Crichton by J. M. Barrie, The Swan by Ferenc Molnar, The Silver Cord by Sidney Howard, The Three Sisters by Anton Tchekhov, The Youngest by Philip Barry. Because of the demand for tickets three performances were added to the production schedule of six of these plays. During the current Season each production will play seventeen performances. There were altogether 140 performances in the Series during the Season.

The increase in attendance in the Children's Theatre appears to reflect a like enthusiasm on the part of the junior audience. During the year four plays were produced—Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp, Red Riding Hood, Abe Lincoln—New Salem Days, Sleeping Beauty. These plays were all adapted by Charlotte B. Chorpenning, a member of the Staff, for the Children's Theatre. The growth of the audience made it necessary to introduce several Saturday morning performances to take care of the overflow. Altogether thirty-six performances were given for children during the Season to an audience of 24,212, an increase of 6,626 admissions over the past Season.

Because of the steady increase of the number of dramatic performances it has become necessary to cut down the Dance Series. Only two programs were produced in 1940-41. There were nine performances and the audience totalled 5,925.

In the Studio Theatre, which serves primarily for the presentation of plays by the students in their second year of training, there were nineteen performances with an attendance of 2850. The Studio plays are open to an invited audience only.

The total producing activity of the Goodman Theatre was therefore:

Play and Dance Programs .....	25
Number of Performances .....	204
Total Attendance .....	116,814

The average number of students for the three terms of the School year was 139.

Head of the School of Drama

RYERSON AND BURNHAM LIBRARIES

IN 1901 the present library was given by Martin A. Ryerson. The twenty-seven hundred volumes seemed lost on its ample shelving. The funds then available kept pace with the need for more books. Now, forty years later, the shelves are overcrowded. Funds, however, have shrunk so that it is no longer possible to meet the demands which continue to grow with the usefulness and reputation of the Library.

Many friends have given books during the year. The source material used by Mrs. Thorne to assure historical accuracy and appropriate atmosphere in designing her miniature rooms comprises a wide selection of books. She has given to the Library nearly two hundred such volumes and illustrations, which will be invaluable to those wishing to study further the periods and styles represented by these rooms. The late Thomas E. Tallmadge, from 1926 to 1940 a member of the Burnham Library Committee, not only used and appreciated the Library's resources, but by his knowledge and judgment contributed directly to its value. It is therefore peculiarly fitting that part of his own collection should find a place here. Miss Abby Tallmadge has generously given fourteen volumes. Some of these will be added to the circulating collection, in which Mr. Tallmadge took especial interest. The Chicago Architectural Club gave up its book collection and transferred to the Burnham Library over two hundred volumes, among which were a number of valuable titles. With the permission of the Club, duplicates may be sold, and purchases from funds so received will be credited to the Club. Realizing that older series of periodicals appropriate for our shelves would be more useful here, the Chicago Public Library transferred 154 volumes, which were divided between the Ryerson and Burnham Libraries. Among other gifts from Alfred E. Hamill were two of particular interest: Cellini's Due Trattati; Uno Intorno alle Otto Principali Arti dell'Oreficeria, Florence, 1588, in which the text is followed by eight Latin odes by various authors in praise of Cellini's work; and Tepotztlan: Art y Color en Mexico, 1940, by Alexander Wuthenau, a richly illustrated monograph on the famous old monastery. Mrs. Olga Woolf presented a complete set of Le Peintre Graveur by Bartsch, 1854-1876. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Best gave Holographs of Landseer, Bonheur, Longpré and Munkácsy. Other valuable additions came from Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, Mrs. Arthur Aldis, Mrs. Robert Gregory, Mrs. John E. Jenkins, Potter Palmer, Dr. Henry Field, and The Chicago Park Commission. Lantern slides were given by Mrs. C. A. Winston, The Chicago Architectural Club, and W. S. Crosby; and postcards by Charles F. Kelley.

Funds received from William D. Darrow and from Film Art have made possible a collection of books on the moving picture as an art form.

Through the cooperation of the Junior League, the Library has been particularly fortunate in having part-time assistance from Miss Kate Barkhausen, Miss Celia Coit, Miss Evelyn Gordon, Mrs. William Joyce, and Miss Jane Stude.

The Library has borrowed from other Chicago libraries, from the University of Illinois, and from the Library of Congress nearly one hundred volumes for the use of the Art Institute Staff.

Progress on the Union Catalogue of books on art in Chicago libraries is continuing systematically and should be nearing completion in 1942. This project, sponsored by the Department of Fine Arts of the University of Chicago, is made possible by the Works Progress Administration, but could not be carried out successfully without aid from the Carnegie Corporation. This Union Catalogue will benefit not only the Art Institute and other Chicago libraries, but through correspondence and interlibrary loan its usefulness will be widespread.

The Library is grateful for the cooperation of the W.P.A. authorities. The activities of the Library which contribute directly to the benefit of Chicago citizens are those in which W.P.A. workers are employed. The indexing of visual material has gone forward more rapidly because of such aid. Quantities of older ephemeral publications have been salvaged and recorded.

The W.P.A. has contributed to the making of scrapbooks and clipping files, of text or of illustrations, which are increasingly popular. In fact, a commercial designer who had proved its usefulness offered eight hundred dollars for the complete file. The material is arranged under such headings as Aeronautics: airplanes, balloons, parachutes; Transportation: horse power, man power, motor power, railways; Navigation; Sports; Victorian era; etc. The everyday demands from department stores; radio stations; book, magazine and newspaper publishers; interior decorators; printing concerns; and business organizations from piano factories to chemical laboratories, show how useful a part the Library plays in the everyday life of Chicago. The Library has supplied information and service to thirty-nine states and to Canada.

The Burnham Library supplied material for three books published this year: Space, Time and Architecture by Siegfried Giedion; Old Chicago Houses by John Drury; and In the Nature of Materials: The Buildings of Frank Lloyd Wright, by H. R. Hitchcock.

With the advice of Professor Hilberseimer of the Illinois Institute of Technology, the Burnham Library is collecting reports on state, regional, and city planning, and on large-scale housing developments.

In response to the active interest in Mexican and South American art, special effort has been made to add the best available material. The Burnham Library purchased the remarkable series of Mexican architectural photographs shown at the Museum of Modern Art.

The varied collections and activities of the Library indicate that, with adequate funds, increasingly valuable service might be offered to the Art Institute and to Chicago.

DEPARTMENT OF BUILDINGS

AMONG the structural improvements during the year were the re-roofing of the entire east range of galleries over the main building, the rebuilding of the top section of west wall of Carpenter Shop corridor, the resetting of the granite front steps, and the repairing of the south loggia balustrade.

Continuing the solution of the problem of our roof repairs, I am happy to report that this year we installed a new roof over the east range of galleries in the main building. This work covered an area approximately four hundred feet north and south by seventy-five feet east and west and was a costly undertaking. Approximately eighty per cent of our entire roof area has now been renewed.

For several years we had been aware of the settling of our granite steps, but lack of funds prevented repairs; however, when the seriousness of the condition forced itself upon our attention, engineers were called to make a survey, which led to the renewing of all the disintegrating supporting walls and piers. In addition it was necessary to replace two defective eight inch I beams.

Expansion and vibration together with the use of iron dowels and defective anchoring having caused over ninety per cent of the spindles in the south balustrade to crack or break. These had to be replaced. The work was completed early in September. Similar repairs will probably become necessary on the north loggia within the next few years.

A joint inspection by the boiler insurance company and the City of Chicago revealed that two of our boiler fire-boxes had become defective after twenty years of continued operation and required renewal. Considering the increased demands made upon the plant by building and gallery additions, major repairs of this nature are not surprising.

In addition, repairs were made to stokers, steam lines and heating coils for the Hutchinson Wing unit, at a total cost of over $6,000.

During the year the Birch Bartlett Gallery was redecorated; also the entire galleries of the Print Department. The Agnes Allerton galleries were cleaned and repainted. Special wall treatment was provided for the galleries of the French Exhibition. The lobby of Hutchinson Wing was repainted for the Exhibition of Milles Sculpture and the Oriental Galleries M-2 and 3 were redecorated. The walls around Mr. Schniewind's office were extended to the ceiling and covered with a fabric and an oak counter made and installed in Gallery 14 to equip it as a print study room.

The major case installation for the year was the making and installing of three continuous wall cases for the Oriental Department in Gallery H-9. Artificial lighting was accomplished by the use of fluorescent lamps with grid type fixtures.

Gallery 2, Gunsaulus Hall, was redecorated and a new oak front installed on the existing cases which were then lighted by concealed fluorescent lamps. The room is much improved by this change.

An artificially lighted counter case was made and installed in the Robinson Gallery of Antique Glass.

In addition to the cases listed above and the regular maintenance and installation work the shops contributed much to the physical and structural changes mentioned earlier in this report. Among the larger orders were four hundred specially designed textile frames for the Decorative Arts Department and the renewing of wooden roof decks, gutters, and curb over the east range of galleries in the main building preparatory to new roof installation.

The Shipping Room section handled its usual number of shipments this year, amounting to 35,222 items. The more outstanding jobs were the dismantling of the French Exhibition, packing and shipping it; also the unpacking and installation of the Milles exhibit in the Hutchinson Wing lobby and McKinlock Court which required much carpentry work.

The department has again served inquirers from other museums and architects with advice on various phases of museum mechanics. These inquiries often are referred to us by the American Association of Museums.

During the year 177,816 patrons were served in the cafeteria and soda fountain. It is gratifying to note that this is an increase over last year and to report that the restaurant has again been entirely self-sustaining.

George Jordan, Chief Engineer from June, 1940, resigned in October, 1941, to accept a position in a defense plant. We were fortunate in securing the services of Edgar Austen to fill the vacancy.

It is evident that the continued expansion of building areas and the growth of individual departments greatly taxes the resources of the Buildings Department, both in personnel and office space which is becoming increasingly crowded. In order to maintain efficiency, added space would be highly desirable.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

THE outstanding series of special exhibitions held during 1941 brought the Art Institute into prominence through articles which appeared not only in the local press but also in the newspapers of other cities and in the national magazines. Life published two feature articles: one on the Masterpieces of French Art on April 28, and a general essay on the Institute on September 8. Time gave us three feature articles: a full page of the Goya Exhibition (February 10), an article about the unpublished Odilon Redon drawings (in August), and the Fifty-second Annual Exhibition of American Paintings and Sculpture (in October). The American Rooms in Miniature by Mrs. James Ward Thorne were reproduced in color by The Milwaukee Journal and The Chicago Tribune (which also featured them in an editorial and in a cartoon on the front page). The Universal Newsreel made a motion-picture "short" of the Rooms which will be released throughout the country. Various magazines, ranging from House Beautiful to Smart, reproduced these rooms. Both the magnificent showing of The Art of Goya and the extraordinary First Century of Printmaking received national attention. Special articles on the Goya Exhibition appeared in New York's P M on February 2; in Newsweek; and, on February 10, The Chicago Tribune published three color reproductions. Hume Whitacre, Photogravure Editor of The Chicago Daily News issued an outstanding photogravure page on Goya, and all the New York art magazines devoted special articles to our showing of the great Spaniard's art. The New York magazine AD published a number concerned solely with the First Century of Printmaking, and other periodicals reechoed the importance of these prints. The exhibition of Masterpieces of French Art which followed was given color pages in The Milwaukee Journal and in The Chicago Tribune. A special daily article, illustrated by a large cut, was generously devoted to the Masterpieces during the entire exhibition by C. J. Bulliet of The Chicago Daily News. The Fashion Show in connection with the French Masterpieces proved a great success in promoting the evening openings. The Milles Exhibition was reproduced in a rotogravure page of The Milwaukee Journal and emphasized elsewhere.

VARIOUS MEANS BY WHICH INFORMATION ABOUT THE ART INSTITUTE WAS CONVEYED TO THE PUBLIC

The following is a summary of the various means developed this year to bring the public into closer contact with the Art Institute:

A new sheet, This Week at The Art Institute of Chicago, giving the locations of all the exhibits, summarizing the free lectures and other events open to the public—found otherwise only in the Bulletin sent to Members—was handed out at all lectures and distributed at the front door.

The Art Institute realizes its obligation to use radio and television in every possible way for the purpose of informing the public of the Chicago area of its activities. From October to April the Art Institute's radio program, Great Artists (on the air every Tuesday from 4:15 to 4:30, over Station WGN), now in its third year, broadcasts episodes from the lives of famous painters, craftsmen, and sculptors whose works are in the permanent collection. Players from the Goodman Theatre act in these dramatizations. A test was made of the response of the audience to the Great Artists program. Station WGN announced a free tour of the Art Institute for those requesting tickets. As a result 225 persons applied for tickets and more than 150 attended the tour of the museum on Sunday, October 19, 1941.

Television offers great possibilities in demonstrating the widespread activities of the Museum and the School, and the Institute wishes to assist in every possible way to develop telecasting in the Chicago area, as soon as it becomes a fact commercially. Two television broadcasts were given by the School of the Art Institute over the Balaban and Katz Experimental Television Station W9XBK: one demonstrated the forming of pottery on the wheel; the second demonstrated the making of a portrait head in sculpture.

During the past two years biographical material about contemporary American artists has been collected on the entry blanks furnished for all the main annual exhibitions. This material is used in advising the editors of newspapers in cities where exhibiting artists live of the honor given their native sons by the Art Institute. Such information often results in articles in the artists' hometown newspapers.

During the year the Museum Tours Committee was active in bringing out-of-town visitors to the Art Institute: special tours were arranged for the Thorne Rooms. Fred G. Heuchling of the Chicago Park District, Chairman of the Committee, worked out a plan through which members of the main conventions in Chicago received coupon books admitting them to all the museums.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Art Institute have been co-operating on the Symphony and Art Exhibit held each week in Gallery 14—the Print Study Room—of the Print Department. Every Monday morning during the Symphony season a print or drawing is put on exhibit which corresponds in mood or style to a musical composition on the program that week at Orchestra Hall. The Symphony has generously called attention to this exhibit by a page in each week's program.

Special thanks are due the following for their excellent cooperation throughout the year: the newspapers and radio stations of Chicago; Miss Myrtle Stahl, Blair Walliser, Miss Ruth Walliser, Vern Hansen, and the production staff at WGN; the Illinois Writers Project, for research work and completion of radio scripts; Ralph Graham and his staff of the Illinois Art Project; the National Youth Administration; Chicago and North Western Railway, and Robert F. Priest of The Caples Company; Miss Helen Wells and Mrs. Lois Barnes of the Fashion Group; Harold Brown of the Chicago Boys' Clubs; Miss Eleanor Welch and Miss Betty Chamberlain of Time; Pence James of The Chicago Daily News; Miss Margit Varga of Life; Miss Elizabeth Sacartoff of P M; Miss Frances Stover and Stanley Kalish of The Milwaukee Journal; Miss Lucille Morehouse, The Indianapolis Star; Reverend Edward V. Dailey, The New World; Mrs. Edith Weigle, The Chicago Tribune; Reinald Werrenrath of the Balaban and Katz Experimental Television Station, W9XBK; The Downtown Shopping News; The Chicago, Aurora and Elgin Railroad; The Illinois Central System; The Chicago Rapid Transit Company; Joseph Daly and The Chicago Motor Coach Company; The Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad Company; Fred G. Heuchling, The Chicago Park District; The Chicago Public Library; Arnold and Jackson; The Work Projects Administration, Ryerson Library, assisted greatly in compiling records for this department.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF FINANCE AND OPERATION

*To the President and Governing Members of
The Art Institute of Chicago:*

IT IS gratifying to report a growth in the Endowment Funds during the year 1941. There was an increase of $179,441.02, of which $160,845.26 is restricted and $18,595.76 is unrestricted. The most important addition of the year was the Frank Harrold Sellers Fund of $100,000, the income of which is to be applied to the endowment of a Professorship in the field of Painting or of Decorative Arts in the School of the Art Institute.

Other new endowment funds were as follows:

Harriott A. Fox . . . . .	$15,592.43
William Benson Storey . . . . .	8,000.00
Anonymous Fund . . . . .	2,000.00

Insurance Fund . . . . .	7,500.00
W. W. Lufkin Fund . . . . .	5,000.00
Wilhelmine F. Coolbaugh Scholarship Fund . . . . .	3,525.00

Irving K. Pond Fund . . . . .	5.49

The conservative policy of the Trustees during the past years has enabled the Art Institute to operate on a more substantial basis than has been the case of many similar institutions. It has been the policy of the Trustees to adopt a sound budget and to operate within the Museum income, with the exception of the recent heavy expenditures for new roofs on the building.

Because of the unusual receipt of $129,498.69 from the Chicago Park District, which included $86,182.55 from 1940 taxes and $43,316.14 from previous years' taxes, the gift of $5,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester, and certain other items of nonrecurring income, the Art Institute was able to close the year with a balanced budget, and to make a payment on the section of the roof completed during the year.

The expenditures for new roofs during the past few years amounted to $211,045.69, and have required special financing. Because of the danger from heavy snows, and the threatened shortage of steel and glass, it is deemed necessary to finish the remaining portion of the roof over the grand staircase in 1942, at a cost of about $20,000. When this has been completed, it is hoped that the Art Institute will be relieved of such heavy expenditures for repairs for several years to come. The building is being kept in good repair even though it has entailed unusual expenditures.

The total receipts from the Membership Department were $64,297.50 of which $25,681.00 was added to the Life Membership Fund, making a total of $1,515,571.78 in the fund. This fund is now the second largest of the Endowment Funds. The total membership of the Art Institute is now 14,019.

Reproduction sales for the year were $9,905.99 and catalogue sales $3,225.19. The restaurant served 177,816 persons.

The Federal Revenue Act of 1941 requires the Art Institute to collect a tax of one cent for each ten cents or fraction thereof of the amounts paid for admission, and an equivalent tax from persons admitted free when admissions are charged other persons. By special ruling from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, at Washington, Members of the Art Institute are not required to pay the tax, but families and guests of Members are taxable. The Trustees of the Art Institute voted to absorb the tax on all school children over twelve years of age and their teachers in the State of Illinois. They will be admitted free at all times as in the past and the tax paid from the general funds of the Art Institute.

The fiscal year of the School ended June 30 with a profit of $2,093.66. From this profit $700 was set aside as a Reserve for Alterations and Repairs and the balance applied to the School bank loan. The fall registration of the School is consistent with that of other institutions of similar grade, reflecting both the effect of the Selective Service Act on men of college age, and the influence of increased demand for young people in industrial positions. Adjustments have been made in the budget to meet changed conditions. So far there has been no serious curtailment of activities of the School. Revisions in the budget have been made in operating expenses rather than in instruction.

The past year has been a successful one at the Goodman Theatre. Almost the entire income of the Theatre comes from two sources, tuition paid by students, and box office receipts. A satisfactory financial condition indicates not only sound business operation, but also successful performance of the two functions of the department, the operation of the School of Drama and of the Theatre.

THE ART INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO

THE ART INSTITUTE of Chicago was incorporated May 24, 1879, for the "founding and maintenance of schools of art and design, the formation and exhibition of collections of objects of art, and the cultivation and extension of the arts of design by any appropriate means." The charter was amended, taking effect on December 1, 1925, and now reads, "for the object to found, build, maintain and operate museums of fine arts, schools and libraries of art, design, and the drama, with authority to confer degrees and grant diplomas; to build, maintain and operate theatres, lecture halls, workshops and lunch rooms in connection therewith, and to carry on appropriate activities conducive to the artistic development of the community; to form, preserve and exhibit collections of objects of art of all kinds; to cultivate and extend the arts of design and the drama by any appropriate means; to provide lectures, instruction, and entertainments including dramatic, operatic and musical performances of all kinds in furtherance of the general purposes of the Institute; to receive in trust property of all kinds and to exercise all necessary powers as trustees for such trust estates whose objects are in furtherance of the general powers of the Institute, or for the establishment or maintenance of works of art in the community."

The Art Institute is open from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., Monday through Saturday, and from 12:00 Noon to 5:00 P.M., Sunday, and legal holidays. Free days: Wednesday, Saturday, Sunday, and legal holidays. A fee of 25 cents plus three cents Federal tax is charged for admission on all other days. Members, students bearing special cards, and children under fourteen years of age are admitted free at all times.

The Ryerson and Burnham Libraries are open the same hours during the week as the Institute, but are closed on Sundays. Ryerson Library is open from 6:00 to 9:30 P.M. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings during the school year.

For information, call Central 7080.

The School of the Art Institute, affording comprehensive courses in the fine and applied arts, together with the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman Memorial Theatre, is under the same roof. The latter has a separate entrance at Monroe Street and South Park Drive.

All Members are entitled, with their families and visiting friends, to the use of the Ryerson and Burnham Libraries as well as to admission to all exhibitions, receptions, public lectures, and entertainments given by the Art Institute.

Visitors desiring to see the collections of the museum under guidance may make appointments with the Department of Education.
